Dear Mr. Dulles:

I understand that Mr. Lampton Berry has discussed with you the possibility of our Foreign Service Inspectors receiving a brief indoctrination course concerning activities of your organization abroad. We feel that such a course would provide an understanding of CIA-State Department problems [redacted] and would prove mutually beneficial, as has a somewhat more extensive course which was prepared for the War College classes. Our Inspectors report to Washington for briefing during the month of January.

If the proposal meets with your approval, will you be good enough to designate someone from your staff with whom I can arrange details?

Sincerely yours,
